Learning From Action

“In the beginning was the action” (Freud, Totem and Taboo)

This is a training model which offers participants an opportunity for direct learning, through living together in a temporary community.

Learning From Action is at the core of this training. This means that during the training you have the possibility to explore a range of types of language, but our primary interest remains in observing and understanding non-verbal communications and interactions. The focus of the working conference is learning to give meaning to actions as constituents of ‘another language’ that influences and mobilises individual and group communications which are not usually overtly expressed because they are either unconscious or too primitive to be effectively mentalized.

The idea for these working conferences originated in the early 2000s from the joint thinking and cooperation between Robert D. Hinshelwood and Enrico Pedriali. This type of experiential training conference now appears in the Standards Manual of the Community of Communities network, and in the “Visiting” project promoted by the Mito & Realtà Association.

Giving meaning to action becomes an essential working tool, not only because of the complex dynamics that emerge in all working groups, but also because of the difficulties encountered by many members of therapeutic communities who due to enduring trauma find putting emotion into words very difficult.

In this sense, the LFA conference is aimed to help develop basic skills for all those who work in residential or semi-residential institutions, and in mental health institutions. Such skills are largely transferable to a wide range of professionals such as educators, nurses, assistants, administrators, managers, consultants, psychologists, psychotherapists, psychiatrists, neuropsychologists, neuropsychiatrists, social workers, carers, etc. However, as already successfully evidenced tested in past editions of the conference, professionals working in other areas, such as the non-profit and corporate world, can profitably join the working conference.

The “Learning From Action” Working conference draws on the Group Relations model (www.ilnodogroup.it) and its aim is to help community staff and workers to explore and study the value of their everyday activities as a form of communication, including the use of money.

The primary task of this working conference is to offer an opportunity to explore how unconscious and non-verbal communication and group dynamics shape decision-making processes and influence accountability and aspects of ‘working together’ in this temporary learning community.

Conference delegates and staff will live and work together to constitute this temporary learning community.

Within this special training context, the main goal of the conference is to increase the participants’ understanding of how conscious and unconscious dynamics affect decision-making processes, both at the individual and group level, and thus enable them to better reflect on the organisational and institutional implications in their own workplaces.

Each participant will have a chance to explore their own role and the way they operate within and behalf of the whole system (the temporary learning organisation), reflecting on nonverbal and unconscious communication. As a result, they will be encouraged to take responsibility for their own contribution whilst taking part in the everyday life and relationships formed within the community.

A further learning goal of this event is to explore the different dimensions and connections between action, thinking and learning, so that the acquired learning can then be transferred and applied to different workplaces and practices.

The working conference will create the opportunity to learn - by experience - the different issues which are involved in decision making, and will stimulate reflection on what might determine the development of a democratic practice and an environmentally sustainable use of available resources in a healthy institution.

The main themes of Working conference are: the decision-making capacity and taking responsibility
The basic needs of community will be fulfilled by forming groups aimed at delivering the following tasks:

- Cooking and catering;
- Cleaning and tidying communal areas;
- Organizing leisure activities;
- The management of money;
- Organizing other agreed activities that arise during the course of the conference.

As in any other community or institution, participants will experience the emergence of interpersonal dynamics related to cohabiting and sharing, such as taking and delegating responsibility, working for others, making decisions, relating to authority and leadership, managing relationships between individuals and within groups, managing conflicts, using or wasting resources and much more.

In order to achieve these learning goals, the conference will use a “Learning from Action” methodology which will include a programme of daily events, such as: Opening and Closing Plenary, Decision-Making Plenary and Decision-Making Groups, Activity Groups, Morning and Evening Community Meetings, Review and Application Groups and possible Emergency Meetings.

LFA is the first and the only event in “Group Relation Conference” style in which participants can experiment for themselves in the use of money to meet the needs of the group, and negotiating the use of money with the members of the staff.

Other Informations

No lectures will be held.
We recommend carefuf and repeated reading of this leaflet.
A continued residence on site is expected for the whole duration of the Working Conference.

It is useful, indeed recommended, to repeat the Working conference.
Three groups are planned:
- A group: for those who participate for the first time
- S group: for those who has already participated at least one time
- T group: training group, by invitation. The T Group’s programme will start on Thursday 17th October 2019 at 7:30 pm, registration at 7:00 pm.

The working conference will start on Friday 18th October 2019 at 1:00 pm, registration from 11:45 to 12:45 am.

The facility offers an opportunity to stay in rooms with more beds, and each person will have to take care of the management and tidying up of their personal spaces.

Participation at the Conference is not recommended for individuals who are going through a period of high psycho-emotional stress.

The language we are focused on and we are here to learn about is the non verbal, the language of actions and of the unconscious. English and Italian will be used.

Participants of LFA said

"I really fell in love with LFA. It was like seeing many of my most significant experiences merge and integrate; I suddenly saw the disclosure of a wholly new and revitalizing perspective from which I could watch several areas of my professional and personal life. As a consequence, my mind keeps coming up with new contributions I might give to such areas" (D. Catullo, Psychotherapist/CT Coordinator).

This experience represents a very effective method to learn about unconscious behaviour in groups and about one’s own role in the group’s behaviour. (G. Bratko, a participant from the US).

The key-word of the LFA Working Conference is then «real»: that is, a temporary organization which is, indeed, provisional, but not abstract/fictitious: it is, instead, immediate and concrete: precisely, real. (G. Foresti, 2015 Staff Member).
